

Early Bird extended– new deadline is Friday 4th April.

Some tours and site visits are almost full, so don't delay. Do it today!

Register on <https://www.secureregistrations.com/CEFPI2014/>

Winners – John who knew Edward Gibbon Wakefield was involved in property development in Adelaide and also Wellington, NZ.

About the program – highlights

Looking forward to hearing from Lynne Symonds from the Mark Oliphant College where she and her staff have achieved outstanding results.

Awards - In addition to the usual CEFPI Awards for building design, there will be the People's Choice from the 72 projects nominated. Be sure to take part in this initiative. See if your choice matches the official panel's choice.

Do you knowwhy Adelaide was called “the city of churches”? Is it because:

- a) early settlers were wowsers and conservative?
- b) more than 22 religious groups built churches? or
- c) early settlers were free to worship whomever they chose?

Let me know – anngorey@internode.on.net

Did you know? The Royal Institute of Australia (RiAus) in Adelaide is Australia's unique national science hub. The only other Ri is in London.

Regards, the SA Conference Team

